Includes mask mandate

Governor extends Alabama's Safer-at-Home Public Health Order until 5 p.m. Dec. 11th

Governor Kay Ivey on Thursday, Nov. 5, issued her 19th supplemental emergency proclamation containing an amended Safer at Home Order that includes a statewide mask requirement. This is in relation to the ongoing battle against the COVID-19 pandemic.

According to the new order, in effect now, individuals are required to wear a mask or other facial covering when in public and in close contact with other people. This amended order extends until Friday, Dec. 11, 2020, at 5 p.m.

The new order did make a few changes for some businesses. For instance, emergency occupancy rates were removed for retailers, gyms and fitness centers, and entertainment venues.

Also, Governor Ivey said some businesses — such as barber shops, hair salons, gyms, and restaurants — would be able to make an exception to the social distancing rules if people are wearing masks and separated by an "impermeable" barrier.

Over the last several weeks, officials said there had been an upward trend in new cases across the state, and locally, Coffee County was considered to be a high-risk area. The recent rise in the number of new cases statewide was largely credited with leading the governor's decision to extend the Safer-at-Home Public Health Order and the face mask mandate.

The rise in cases also was being felt by the Coffee County School System as Superintendent Kevin Killingsworth noted 10 new cases in his weekly COVID-19 report released Wednesday, Nov. 4th.

"This increase coincides with the rise in the number of cases in Coffee County over the past several weeks," Killingsworth said. "It does concern me that we are having more cases in our schools. We will diligently continue to follow ADPH protocols in our schools to help protect our students and employees."

Of the 10 new cases reported last week, Killingsworth said two were students at Zion Chapel, one was a faculty member at New Brockton Elementary, and there were six student cases and one faculty case at New Brockton High School. He said that brought the system's total number of cases overall to 50 since school started this year.

The superintendent said with the spread of COVID-19 new terms such as close proximity, social distancing, and now, COVID fatigue, have been introduced into everyone's vocabulary.

"I sincerely believe that COVID fatigue is really affecting our society, and our schools are not immune to it," he said. "The constant routines of having to wear PPE [Personal Protective Equipment], social distance and sanitation protocols add to the stress levels of everyone involved. COVID-19 has changed every aspect of the educational process as we know it."

Killingsworth said his system would continue to do everything necessary to strive to keep all students and faculty as safe as possible through these trying times.

According to the ADPH school COVID dashboard, Elba City Schools had less than five new cases of the COVID virus last week.

Elba City Schools superintendent Chris Moseley also noted his system is doing everything it can and following all protocols sent from the state board of education and ADPH to keep Elba students and faculty as safe as possible. He said he has been very proud of the students and staff for their diligence in following all recommendations asked of them to protect against COVID-19.

Elba native among newly graduated Alabama State Troopers

The Alabama Law Enforcement Agency (ALEA) graduated 52 new ALEA Troopers on Wednesday, Nov. 4, during a closed ceremony held in the auditorium of the Alabama Criminal Justice Training Center (ACJTC), in Selma, Ala., including a native of Elba.

Class 2020-E had three members whose fathers are sworn members of ALEA. Trooper Jonah Holzheimer is the son of Trooper Kenneth Holzheimer; Trooper Ashton Senn is the son of Special Agent Johnny Senn of ALEA's State Bureau of Investigation; and Trooper James Dean is the son of Trooper Jimmy Dean, who passed away in February.

Proud dad, Johnny Senn of Elba, became an Alabama State Trooper on April 22, 2001, a position he served for several years before advancing his career to join the Alabama State Bureau of Investigations (SBI) office. He currently is working as the Background Investigations Coordinator for the SBI Director's Office.

Johnny said he is very proud of Ashton as he has chosen a career to serve and protect the people of Alabama. Ashton is an alumnus of Elba City Schools.

Trooper Class 2020-E, which began Aug. 30, is one of the largest classes in the agency's recent history. It is also ALEA's first combined class, with a portion of the graduates already having law enforcement experience.

The class consisted of 12 ALEA Trooper Trainees who received their certification from the Alabama Peace Officers Standards and Training Commission (APOSTC) from June 1 to Aug. 27. In addition, 40 accelerated Trooper Trainees who were already APOSTC-certified joined Aug. 30.

Thanks to the continued support from Governor Kay Ivey and the legislature, ALEA has hired 118

RIBBON CUTTING HELD FOR NEWLY RENOVATED GAMECOCK STADIUM IN NEW BROCKTON...Coffee County Schools held an official ribbon cutting Thursday evening, Nov. 5, for the newly renovated New Brockton High School Gamecock football stadium. The improved facility includes new, larger homeside bleachers, a new entrance and other facilities. The continued growth at New Brockton Schools warranted this renovation to accommodate larger crowds and to allow the school to be able to host playoff games for Class 3A or larger events, if necessary. Those participating in the ribbon cutting included school/system administrators, Coffee County school board members, state legislators, and local beauty queens.

In Nov. 3, 2020 General Election

Nearly 61 percent of Coffee County voters cast ballots

by Linda Hodge, Editor

The 2020 General Election held Tuesday, Nov. 3, came and went with no real issues reported to have come out of Alabama or Coffee County regarding election results.

In Coffee County, nearly 61 percent [60.9%] of registered voters turned out for the election to vote. That equated to 22,292 ballots cast in Coffee County from the 37,095 total registered voters.

The only local Coffee County race that had two names on the ballot was that for Coffee County Commissioner, District One. This race pitted incumbent Republican commissioner Dean Smith against an Independent challenger — Hilton A. Morgan III.

Smith was the overwhelming choice of District One voters with 91.16 percent of the vote compared to 8.54 percent of the vote for Morgan. That was 3,062 votes for Smith and 287 votes for Morgan.

All seven of the Coffee County Commission seats were up for election this year; however, Smith's District One seat was the only one to be challenged in the General Election.

The remaining incumbents re-elected to another term included: Kim Ellis, District Two; [Ellis was challenged in the Primary Election but won the Republican nomination for the General Election where he was unopposed]; Josh Camley, District Three; Al Britt, District Four; Jimmy Jones, District Five; Jim Thompson, District Six; and Tom Grimsley, District Seven.

Two Coffee County Board of Education seats were up for election this year. For District One, incumbent Brian McLeod was unopposed in his re-election bid; and in District 7, Sherry Eddins was elected to serve replacing Larry Eddins - he did not seek re-election.

Josh Wilson was elected to continue serving as Coffee County's District Court Judge, Place One. He was unopposed.

Also, locally, longtime Coffee County Commissioner Ronnie Burns was re-elected to serve another term. He too was unopposed for this election.

There were three other races on the ballot received lots of attention leading up to the election, and these were huge draws for the unusually high voter turnout. These were the races for United States President, United States Senator for Alabama, and United States Representative for the 2nd Congressional District.

All three of these races, in Coffee County, followed the statewide trend and favored the Republican candidate by a large margin.

For President, Coffee County voters accounted for 16,832 for Donald Trump (Rep.) while 5,050 votes went to Joe Biden (Dem). This gave Trump 75.89 percent of the Coffee County vote in Alabama compared to 22.77 percent of the vote for Biden.

As of press time this week, Biden had been deemed the president-elect; however, current president Trump said he would not concede and would challenge the election in court due to what he called several acts of voting fraud.

For U.S. Senator, Republican challenger Tommy Tuberville was the favorite in Coffee County as he received 73.97 percent of the vote with 16,335 votes. The incumbent Doug Jones (Democrat) only received 25.92 percent of the Coffee County vote with 5,723 votes cast in his favor.

Tuberville won the election by a large majority vote statewide.

For U.S. Rep., 2nd Congressional District, the Coffee County vote largely went to Republican Barry Moore with 77.89 percent of the 17,141 votes cast. Moore is from Coffee

Dean Smith, District One Commissioner, was re-elected to another term last Tuesday. His was the only local race challenged on the Nov. 3rd ballot.

"If we cannot not end our differences, at least we can help make the world safe for diversity." – John F. Kennedy

Angry political protesters gathering at polling places - with guns! You only need one hothead to pull a trigger, or even accidentally discharge a weapon and the ensuing disaster will leave a black mark on all America. Tragically that will not prevent some shortsighted citizens from continuing down that slippery road. There are enough hotheads on any side of any political issue (or football game) to cause such an explosion.

We printed last week that Trump would have a heavy win in Alabama but even with that prediction we didn't expect a county (Winston) to vote for President Trump by over 90%! Plus Cleburne, Blount, Marion and Cullman counties all were 88% or above for President Donald Trump. Then in five Black Belt counties Biden received from 72% to 81% of the total vote. Those are some lopsided totals and indicate to us that all Alabamians are not singing off the same song book. Maybe not even thinking in the same language. Which is better for the country . . . only history can give a clear picture of that and we will all be gone by that time.

Saturday morning Joe Biden was anointed with the title of 'President elect' by the news media. This was after it became clear that he was going to win enough state's electoral votes to be elected, come that faithful December meeting of the 538-member Electoral College. When Pennsylvania – 20 delegates (and Nevada with 6) counting gave Biden the magic 270 plus votes to be the majority of the electoral votes, the media named Biden the winner.

Republican diarchs are very disappointed with the outcome of this election, as can be expected with by any election outcome that is the opposite of what that individual felt was necessary for the city, state or country. In this situation we are already hearing (on Saturday) that America is headed for a train wreck. Disagreeing with that fear, people should consider that the Senate will very probably remain under Republican control. That balance, Democratic House and Republican Senate, will add checks and balances to the ideas (both good and bad) of any one individual or political party.

Anyone thinking America is 'rid' of Donald Trump is in for a rude awakening. He has lost the office of president, but he has not lost his voice nor his twitter account(s). We also doubt he has lost his love/hate association with the national news media. His nature of outlandish claims, etc., got him to the White House and will surely feed his loyal followers for years to come . . . like maybe for another run for his only political office. With some 70 million U. S. citizens voting for him last week, he will surely have a large following for anything he wants to chat about.

Well ole COVID-19 visited The Elba Clipper recently but all is well – for now. Linda went through the ritual of staying home for the 10-day period and is now back in the office. Even though her case was relatively mild, Linda will be quick to assure anyone listening that she wants no more of that 'stuff'.

Be Safe - Wear your masks, wash your hands, and practice social distancing. Your health and possibly your very life depends on it.

Editor's Note: Cuzin Lou Lou's comments are for entertaining purposes as she shares tales from Yonder including stories about her Sister and Papa! It's good 'ole Southern fun!!

Cuzin Lou Lou ventured out for the first time in two weeks last weekend...it had been far too long since she had enjoyed seeing people and doing things, even if those things were running errands [insert a not so happy 'thanks' to COVID-19 here]!

Saturday was Lou Lou's first day back in the public since her COVID-19 diagnosis...she referred to it simply as "jail break day!" First order of business was to go to her least favorite place to shop for some necessities for home. Yep! That's correct!

Cuzin Lou Lou dared to enter the world of Wal-Mart on her very first outing since becoming ill! Mind you, however, she went armed with hand sanitizer and her face mask. Even now after being a recovered COVID-19 victim, Cuzin Lou Lou believes even more strongly in following the safety guidelines set forth by the department of health officials. Her reasoning is simple – Cuzin Lou Lou has absolutely no desire – ZERO – to have to deal with that mean virus again, and Sister and Papa feel the same way.

Speaking of Sister and Papa, both are doing much better! Sister ended up having to battle pneumonia along with the virus, but fortunately, she recovered well! Thanks for all those prayers! They were felt!!

Knowing Sister and Papa were feeling better helped Lou Lou in feeling more comfortable about leaving them to head back into the world of people! Lou Lou missed people greatly during her isolation!!

Well...maybe all people except the enormous crowd of folks at the Wal-Mart on Saturday. That turned out to be a bit more than Lou Lou bargained for and she quickly questioned her sanity.

Prior to deciding to venture to Wally World [maybe the pits of hell is a better description], Lou Lou contemplated simply creating a grocery pickup order to avoid having to actually go inside, but decided she was so excited to finally be able to and feel up to going out that even Wal-Mart [or the people inside Wal-Mart] were not a deterrent.

What Lou Lou did not realize, however, is that because of the way 2020 has gone due to COVID-19 'ole Wal-Mart created a new way to still profit off of "Black Friday Sales" while keeping the crowds down [somewhat] for safety measures. Instead of all the sales being on the day/week-end after Thanksgiving, the store has started them early and is holding different sale throughout the month of November.

Well...sale number one for inside the store was Saturday! Yep! The place was packed with shoppers trying to get those great deals on holiday gifts, which translates to, it was filled with folks being less than nice to one another. You add the holiday shoppers to the regular Saturday shoppers and it created a not-so-pleasant environment for the Lou Lou's of the world just trying to grab a few items and get gone.

Lou Lou's 'favorite' encounter was the lady on canned vegetables isle in the grocery section that was taking up practically the entire section as she had her buggy parked in one area and kept walking up and down the isle between her buggy and everyone else waiting to get there. At one point, she looked up at Lou Lou and asked, "Am I in your way?" This was after she had already asked someone else the same question, and that person gave up and moved on...Lou Lou, with her mask covering her face, responded without missing a beat – "No. I'm just waiting my turn!" Said lady did not catch the sarcasm in that response because she still did not get in any hurry!

Lou Lou was happy though that she handled it so well... any other time, she might have huffed and puffed and stormed away muttering "verily, verily" under her breath. Not on Saturday! She held it together and got through it, but she has probably never been so excited to be done with a shopping excursion any more than she was on Saturday.

Good news, however, was that Lou Lou ended Saturday's outings with a trip to her favorite Mexican restaurant – Monterrey's – to grab some takeout for the fam jam! Lou Lou had not had her favorite Mexican since being diagnosed with COVID, and she was having withdrawals! It did not disappoint – another good example of Yonder's greatness!!

Until next time...Keep Smiling, Stay Sanitized, and God Bless!!

Also, a great big 'ole Yonder 'Thank You' to all Veterans, including Papa! Your service to our country is greatly appreciated!!

National Home Caregivers Month

Home caregivers are family members that are taking care of a loved one or family in the home rather than in a long-term care facility. Home Caregivers are responsible for the health, well-being and care of the person in their care. There are a myriad of factors that can result in a person choosing to be taken care of at home rather than at a long-term care facility and the reasons can be deeply personal for most families. Here are some helpful tips for Home Caregivers and those supporting them.

Oftentimes, people choose care at home rather than a nursing home for the sake of keeping their loved one close to home. But remaining in the home doesn't mean a lack of professional care. Nurses can be brought in during the day for physical therapy, occupational therapy and more to help with the tasks that must be taken care of by a trained professional. Additionally, home care professionals can be hired to help watch your loved one during the day; oftentimes they can help perform household tasks, make sure your loved one is fed and ensure that basic needs are met while you work during the day. These options can be expensive but certain insurance providers, church groups and other resources are available to help with some of the financial pressures that level of care can bring with it.

Consider seeing a therapist as an individual or as a family. Taking care of a loved one can be emotionally taxing especially if they are grappling with a chronic illness. It is important to take care of your emotional well-being and mental health, too. You can only take care of others if you take care of yourself.

Use your spare time as wisely as you can. Maintaining a routine can be difficult but vitally important when you are acting as the caregiver to a sick loved one. Use the time you do have to see friends, take care of yourself, exercise or simply do a few of the things you enjoy doing in your spare time.

We'd like to extend a heartfelt thank you and our genuine support to all of the Home Caregivers in our community. Your dedication does not go unnoticed.

Security summit partners warn taxpayers of new COVID-19 related text scam

The Internal Revenue Service, state tax agencies and the tax industry today warned of a new text scam created by thieves that trick people into disclosing bank account information under the guise of receiving the $1,200 Economic Impact Payment.

The IRS, states and industry, working together as the Security Summit, remind taxpayers that neither the IRS nor state agencies will ever text taxpayers asking for bank account information so that an EIP deposit may be made.

"Criminals are relentlessly using COVID-19 and Economic Impact Payments as cover to try to trick taxpayers out of their money or identities," said IRS Commissioner Chuck Rettig. "This scam is a new twist on those we've been seeing much of this year. We urge people to remain alert to these types of scams."

The scam text message states: "You have received a direct deposit of $1,200 from COVID-19 TREAS FUND. Further action is required to accept this payment into your account. Continue here to accept this payment..." The text includes a link to a fake phishing web address.

This fake phishing URL, which appears to come from a state agency or relief organization, takes recipients to a fraudulent website that impersonates the IRS.gov Get My Payment website. Individuals who visit the fraudulent website and then enter their personal and financial account information will have their information collected by these scammers.

People who receive this text scam should take a screen shot of the text message that they received and then include the screenshot in an email to phishing@irs.gov with the following information:

Date/Time/Time zone that they received the text message

The number that appeared on their Caller ID

The number that received the text message

The IRS does not send unsolicited texts or emails. The IRS does not call people with threats of jail or lawsuits, nor does it demand tax payments on gift cards.

People who believe they are eligible for the Economic Impact Payment should go directly to IRS.gov. People who do not have a filing requirement but who are eligible for EIP can use a non-filers tool on IRS.gov until November 21 to claim their payment.

No Time for Goodbyes

Does it ever seem to you that Jesus was the most unreasonable man who ever lived? What could be more natural than to want to go home and say goodbye to one's family? However, keep in mind that saying goodbye can take a long time. Some couples will recall a time, before they were married, when it took half an hour just to say good night! Farewells can take time.

Remember also that Jesus could read the heart of the man who made the request to return home, while we can read only his words. Perhaps Jesus knows that the young man's parents would try to persuade him not to go after Jesus if he went back home to see them.

The encounters described in Luke 9: 57-62 reveal an urgency about the work of the Kingdom that must not be missed. It is easy for us to forget that urgency. Not a moment of time should be wasted. The return of Christ may be nearer than we think. Our opportunities may be fewer than we think. The one we hope to win to Christ may not have many years, or even days, ahead of him or her. (We may not have many years, or even days, ahead of us.)

The novelist Rebecca West once observed that we cannot imagine Jesus hurrying – yet there was always an urgency about His efforts. While we should never be frantic about our work, we should certainly be urgent. – R.C.S.

THE BATTLE FOR A THANKFUL HEART

"Be careful [anxious] for nothing; but in every thing by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." (Philippians 4:6-7)

If you have been a Christian for any length of time, you already know your heart and mind are contested grounds. As believers, we are called to be thankful (1 Thes. 5:18; Col. 3:15; Eph. 5:20). But thankfulness does not always come easy. In fact, for many Christians, thankfulness is a problematic area. We know God has been good to us; to our family; to our town, our state, and our nation, but we often find it easier to complain than to offer thanks. I am not suggesting we should never speak-up or complain for change, but our expressions of gratitude should far outnumber our grievances.

Consider what could be listed as the major contributing factors which led to the children of Israel's failures in the wilderness: Fearfulness? Forgetfulness? Faithlessness? All of these could be cited, but one which is often overlooked is ingratitude.

Numbers 11:1-10 "And when the people complained, it displeased the LORD...and his anger was kindled...We remember the fish, which we did eat in Egypt freely; the cucumbers, and the melons, and the leeks, and the onions, and the garlick: But now our soul is dried away: there is nothing at all, beside this, before our eyes...and the anger of the LORD was kindled greatly..."

I find that passage troubling; especially when I consider how similar it sounds to modern times. Chronic complaining is so common in society today we little think of its consequences. Gratitude, however, is an attitude which leads to faith-filled living. A person grateful to God shows it in the way they love others, the way they respond when misunderstood and misrepresented.

Paul goes on in Philippians 4:8 to say, "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things."

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we were all predisposed to never get anxious, upset or discouraged? I wish I, like Paul, could so command my mind that I would always remember God is good and in control.

But verse 11 is key: "Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content. I know both how to be abased, and I know how to abound: every where and in all things I am instructed both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need. I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." This is wonderful news because it teaches us that thankfulness is not necessarily a natural trait...IT CAN BE LEARNED!

LIFESTYLES

God, "Blood and Guts" Patton, and me

by R.A. Mathews

Ninety-eight year old Wheeler Wayne never expected to meet General George S. Patton. He also never thought he'd have a front row seat to World War II — literally.

Born in 1922 in the hills of West Virginia, Wheeler was 21 when he landed in France. His job was driving a Jeep, but not just any Jeep — Wheeler drove officers from lieutenants to two-star generals. And officers went where the action was.

"Not always good," he said, "when bullets were flying around."

In fact, Wheeler said a German fired sideways into his Jeep and the bullet passed between his eyes and the windshield.

Even so, Wheeler's job also meant he was among the first to see historic moments.

Wheeler walked through Hitler's smaller house at Berghof — the larger house having been bombed. "HH" was engraved on everything from the silver to the curtains," he said, "and there was one room just for guns."

Wheeler also arrived at the Dachau concentration camp as the Allies liberated the Jews. "I watched a sea of parachutes in the sky, Army paratroopers landing in force."

He remembers bodies stacked in piles in one building after another. "The odd thing — they didn't have any smell."

Mike, Wheeler's son, said 60 years passed before his father would discuss the war. But Wheeler's voice brightens at the thought of Patton. "You could hear him before you saw him."

Learning that Patton had berated two soldiers hospitalized for shell-shock, Wheeler said, "He called it like he saw it."

"Patton was around a lot and I never heard him raise his voice to an enlisted man in the field. I'll give him credit for that. He was upbeat and everyone liked him."

In fact, Patton joined them for meals. What did he talk about? "Anything but the war."

"He would get in the chow line with the enlisted and one day he sat down opposite me. 'You boys eat better than the officers,' he said. 'Anyone here from West 'by-God' Virginia?'"

Wayne nodded and Patton said, "Those mountain women are kind of nice," then kept on eating.

Even though Wheeler was reared in church, he didn't know God. He was surprised to learn that Patton relied completely on the Lord, praying morning and evening, attending church every Sunday.

Michael Keane, author of "Patton: Blood, Guts, and Prayer," claims that Patton asks God for help or gives Him thanks in every one of his journal entries. Just before the Battle of the Bulge, where Patton was sent to rescue a U.S. Airborne Division surrounded by Germans, the general asked his entire army to pray. Patton believed the power of prayer could shape the outcome.

Wheeler almost died as the war ended — he approached a booby-trapped bridge that exploded in front of him. The army released Wheeler in January of 1945, just days after Patton had died unexpectedly.

Wheeler went on to marry in 1948, but he said he had a wild side, running around with the boys.

"When I came to God," telling of a revival, "it was a big experience. I asked for a towel to wipe the sweat off me. Everything got light inside and the wild stuff all went away." Afterwards, Wheeler, a gifted musician, began leading music at many churches.

Wheeler Wayne now knew the Man Patton turned to every day.

Wheeler mostly lives in the Deep South now. His life could not have been more different from Patton's — one a West Point graduate from a wealthy California family, the other a former Firestone worker reared by a country school teacher.

But their lives intersected. And, ultimately, both gave their best to the Lord.

It's Veterans Day. Take time to thank our soldiers for their service ... and their prayers.

Southeast Insurance of Elba conducted a costume contest for Halloween on its Facebook page where parents added their child's photo to the page and the photo with the most 'likes' by Monday, Nov. 2, would be named the winner.

The photo above of Kinsley Rogers, age 2, of Elba was deemed the winning photo. Kinsley is the daughter of Chase and Brinley Rogers. Grandparents are Chuck Williams and Christie Williams and Terry and Suzanne Rogers. Kinsley attends Bright Beginnings Child Care Center in Elba, and she loves to dance, play outside, ride the golf cart, and eat ice cream. Being named the contest winner, Kinsley received a basket of prizes and a certificate from Southeast Insurance. Several photos were submitted for this contest. According to Southeast Insurance employees, another contest will be announced after Thanksgiving for 'Pictures with Santa' — this will be advertised on the company's Facebook page closer to time.

Our grandson Lawson told me one afternoon last week that he had begun thinking about what he wanted for Christmas, but said he would tell me a little later after he made up his mind for sure. My little man loves to play video games and can also sit for hours making things out of Lego blocks. So, I guess I'll just have to wait and see what Santa and I need to look for.

For what it is worth....

 The Elba Lady Tigers advanced to the Final Four in Class 1A last season in basketball and are determined to make it back to Birmingham this season in Class 2A. With their attitude to play 'anyone, anywhere,' they will open the season this week with a short road trip to battle the 7A Enterprise Lady Cats. Coach Shaun Hammonds has a season long plan to develop his team into state contenders, and the first step this season is to challenge a 7A power right off the bat. It was fun to watch Coach Hammonds put the pieces together last season on their way to Birmingham, and the first piece this season will fall into place this week. The game begins!

 The Brantley Bulldogs made a statement to all the other teams in Class 1A last week with a lopsided 65-9 opening round win over Billingsley. The Bulldogs had been the 'Big Dogs' all season in the 1A ranks before falling to 5A Andalusia in their season finale, and just to make sure everyone remembered who was the top team in the class, the 'Dogs demolished their opening round playoff foe. Make no mistake, these Bulldogs have only one thing on their minds and that's a trip to T-town and a state title.

 The opening week of the state high school football playoffs went pretty much as expected with only seven #1 seeds losing in 52 games. The #1 seeds eliminated included Valley Head in 1A, East Lawrence in 3A, Williamson in 4A, Pelham, Athens and Hueytown in 6A, and Austin in 7A. There are usually a lot of upsets in the games involving the #2 seeds and #3 seeds. However, this season the #2 seeds advanced in 38 of the 52 games, which sets up some interesting second round match-ups.

Some games of note in last week's opening round included * Abbeville scoring 44 points in the first half of its easy 44-6 romp past outmatched Thorsby * Providence Christian ending its season with a disappointing 4-7 record after being eliminated by unbeaten Montgomery Academy 24-9 * G.W. Long picking up its ninth win of the season with a dominating 17-0 win over Luverne * Eufaula picking up its ninth win of the season in the 6A ranks with a high-scoring 52-28 win over Stanhope Elmore * Enterprise seeing its season end with a 40-28 road loss to Theodore, only two weeks after picking up a huge win over previously undefeated Auburn High * Geneva County turning Emmanuel Henderson loose for 270 yards and five td's in an impressive 48-26 road win over Highland Home * Arton being held to only 54 yards rushing in a 13-7 road loss to Isabella * Dale County being totally outmatched in a 52-21 road loss to #8 Bibb County * Opp scoring two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to ease past Greensboro 14-8 * Pike County keeping its season alive with a big 39-21 road win over Hillcrest, of Evergreen * Carroll, of Ozark, falling after a two-week break with a disappointing 22-6 road loss to Selma * Geneva allowing 58 points in the first half in a 65-21 opening round loss to American Christian * Wicksburg ending its season with a 51-18 whipping at the hands of #8 Thomasville * Samson ending its season with six wins after a 41-0 loss to Maplesville * Slocumb winning its tenth game for the first time since 2003 with a 39-20 win over Southside, of Selma * Florala ending its big season with a wild 32-30 road loss to Notasulga * McKenzie keeping its amazing season alive with a big 54-32 win over Loachapoka * and, Andalusia advancing with a solid 44-7 romp past Marbury.

 Ye Ole Polish Prognosticator dropped by over the weekend and was actually a little excited about what happened in the opening week of the state high school football playoffs. The local guesspert hit on 19 of his 23 playoff picks last week, and declared the brackets are shaping up for some really great match-ups in the weeks to come for all area fans. The limited seating due to state regulations may dampen the excitement a little, but not for the players and true fans. Here is this week's fearless forecast as the playoffs enter week #2....

BRANTLEY VS. KEITH

The bulldogs from up over the creek barely broke a sweat last weekend in the opening round of the 1A playoffs and this week will be more of the same as they begin their final tune-ups for a long playoff run. Get there early, because this one will be over early!

River gauges for Pea River show great increases in rainfall for 2020

It is amazing that with the rainfall totals in 2020 up substantially from last year, there has been no major flooding in Coffee County.

The Pea River rainfall gauges at, Big Creek, Folsom Bridge, Lowry Mill in Coffee County, the Star Hill gauge in Barbour County, and the Arton gauge in Dale County all recorded as much as twice the rainfall for the first ten months of the year.

Last February, the Big

Creek gauge, just North of Elba, recorded five times as much rain as the previous year! A little further up Pea River at Lowry Bridge the increase was six times the previous year.

The measuring system was down at many Pea River locations in September of 2019, but those that were still recording the very limited rain the area received show a jump from less than half inch to from ten to over fourteen inches.

LBWCC signs transfer agreement with University of West Alabama

The University of West Alabama is giving Lurleen B. Wallace Community College (LBWCC) students extra incentives to become UWA Tigers upon completion of their associate degree at LBWCC.

UWA's new partnership with LBW guarantees admission for students who have a 2.0 GPA and 45 transferable credit hours or an associate degree from LBW. Other perks include scholarships and one-on-one advisement for LBWCC students.

"We are offering very personalized advising before LBW students move to the University of West Alabama. They will know what courses to take, when and with whom. We want to make their transfer seamless, by taking a lot of pressure off students when they're moving to a new location. In fact, we are incentivizing the transition by beefing up our academic scholarship for this kind of a partnership," said UWA President, Dr. Ken Tucker.

Getting a flu shot will help protect and even benefit the community

If you haven't gotten your flu shot already, the Alabama Department of Public Health, the Medical Association of the State of Alabama and the Alabama Hospital Association encourage you to get vaccinated for influenza.

While flu activity is currently low, influenza outbreaks tend to occur during the winter months. It takes about two weeks for the flu shot to be effective and flu season can last until May.

Everyone 6 months of age and older (with rare exceptions) should get the flu vaccine, especially this year when the demands on Alabama's healthcare system are significant due to COVID-19. Influenza vaccination will not prevent COVID-19, but it is the best way to minimize the risk of flu.

Flu and COVID-19 disease share many of the same symptoms — fever, headache, sore throat, muscle aches and fatigue. However, COVID-19 is caused by infection with the coronavirus SARS-CoV-2 and flu is caused by infection with influenza viruses. Similar symptoms may make the two illnesses more difficult to diagnose and treat.

Getting a flu vaccine will reduce the chances of possible misdiagnosis and getting both diseases at the same time.

According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), vaccination is particularly important for people who are at high risk of serious complications from influenza. The flu vaccination has many important benefits. It can reduce flu illnesses, doctors' visits, missed work and school due to flu, as well as prevent flu-related hospitalizations and deaths.

Different flu vaccines are approved for use in different groups of people.

- There are flu shots approved for use in children as young as 6 months old and flu shots approved for use in adults 65 years and older.

- Flu shots also are recommended and approved for use in pregnant women and people with certain chronic health conditions.

- The nasal spray flu vaccine is approved for use in non-pregnant individuals who are 2 years through 49 years of age. People with some certain medical conditions should not receive the nasal spray flu vaccine.

While there are many vaccine options from which to choose, CDC does not recommend one flu vaccine over another. The most important message is for all people 6 months of age and older to get a flu vaccine every year.

In addition to providing protection for yourself, the more people who are immunized for flu, the better the public is protected. Furthermore, fewer people will be hospitalized for flu at a time when physicians need hospital beds not only for COVID-19 but for other health needs that require hospitalization. In addition to getting vaccinated, other steps that are needed to help prevent COVID-19 and influenza are as follows:

- Wash your hands frequently with soap and water for at least 20 seconds. If soap and water are not available, use an alcohol-based hand rub containing at least 60 percent alcohol.

- Social distance by staying at least 6 feet away from others.

- Avoid close contact with those outside your household; avoid people who are sick.

- Cover your mouth and nose with a face covering when around others.

- Cover coughs and sneezes.

- Avoid touching your eyes, nose and mouth.

- Routinely clean and disinfect frequently touched surfaces and objects that may be contaminated.

- Stay home if you can.

- Monitor your health. Contact your private physician, pharmacy or county health department for a flu clinic schedule.
